DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group I, claims 1-14 in the reply filed on 11/17/2004 is acknowledged.
2. Claims 15-16 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 11/17/2004.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 3749

5. Claims 1-2 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Zurek et al. (U. S. Pat. 5,576,218).

Zurekk shows a motorized damper 28 (col. 8, lines 21-25) with at least one vane 38. A first port 32 and a second identical interchangeable port 34 are provided for input and output modes, respectively. Since, the structure of Zurek is same as claimed, then, it would have been obvious matter of choice to reverse the damper 28 during installation in order to speedily install the damper without regard of ports so that the input and output ports may be reversed.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 6-14 are allowed.

7. Claims 3-4 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 4/19/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive to overcome the rejection. First, un-amended broad claims failed to structurally define over the prior art reference. There is no structural difference between the broad claims and the patent to Zurek et al. USP 5576218. The applicant is invited to point out exactly which structure in the claims that the patent does not show. Second, the applicant argues that the ports 32, 34 of Zurek et al are not the same "ports" as claimed. The examiner disagrees because the examiner must give broadest interpretation on all claim language. The patent to Zurek clearly meets the claim language in the context of damper operation for air movements. This is not an unreasonable interpretation. Third, the applicant argues that there is no teaching to reverse the damper installation in order to obtain a reverse airflow. The examiner disagrees because it is a common practice for one skilled in the art to reverse an installation in order to obtain a reverse function or result. It certainly does not take an invention to reverse an installation to obtain a reversed effect. With regard to claim 2, the claimed "micro controller" is nothing but a computer. In today's technology, it is well known in the art to use a micro controller or a computer to control anything. Again this is well known in the art. For claim 5, the ports 32, 34 of Zurek are configured to receive identically shaped plug or connector. This is a common practice.

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
